
Each point is the same selected optimization run and its independent CFD endpoint; shared model loading excluded.